“ I have and would refer Rob Hollis to friends and acquaintances as I found him to be extremely knowledgeable in the area of family law. As (I am sure you are aware) decisions regarding child custody / residence and property distribution is extremely stressful, where judgements are impaired and decisions based on emotional responses can be made. During the short time Rob had carriage of my file I found he was able to give me sound advice regarding my options and the possible consequences of rash decisions. Rob was able to begin negotiations with my ex-husband on securing settlement within a short period of time (where my other solicitor was not).During these negotiations Rob ensured that my interests were paramount (by adding in a clause on interest for late payment etc) I found Rob to be very personable with a sense of humour however very 'up front' with all aspects of law.
