Greenhalgh Pickard Climate Action Strategy

CLIMATE GOALS FOR 2022

Green is not just in our name, but in our nature.

Why it is important to align yourself with businesses that share the same carbon neutral goals.

Overview

This climate strategy plan showcases the climate friendly initiatives that are in place here at Greenhalgh Pickard. We want to do our part in looking after the pristine location we live in, the Sunshine Coast.

Private Sector

Conversations about global warming and climate change are happening all around us and are now starting to sink its roots into the private sector. We want to hit the ground running by doing our part for the region of the sunshine coast.

Creating a sustainable future and embedding sustainable principles and practices through research, engagement and operational activities

Mission Statement

Being a part of a carbon neutral society is the main focus of Greenhalgh Pickard.

Not only is it our focus but we want to encourage and educate other businesses and our clients to join us on our climate journey.

Objectives

Many of these strategies are costly and time consuming and impede on the hustle culture of society, so it begs the question, why bother?

- Doing our part in helping the environment of the sunshine coast
- Educating and hopefully inspire other businesses in the region to do their part as well
- Working with local organisations and groups that are on the same page as us
- The ultimate goal of being apart of a carbon neutral society

Reducing our paper usage by implementing electronic communications and evolving with technology to minimise printing wherever possible.

Programs such as DocuSign are routine practices of the firm to enable e-signing of contracts and related documents.

Energy Output

To help the reduce the stress on our air-conditioning in the Queensland climate, we make an effort to close the blinds to reduce the heat in the office considerably. At 2pm all blinds must be shut to have this cooling effect on the atmosphere.

Recycling Printer Cartridges

Officeworks has an incredible recycling section which is a great resource, particularly for businesses. We recycle all of our printer cartridges, stationary, paper and more!
